OBSERVING 500 YEARS

WHAT DID IT START?

Within a year of posting the 95 Theses Luther found himself in the middle of a firestorm. He was under the threat of being arrested and possibly even killed. As Luther was forced to defend what he'd written, he found himself pushed further and further away from the teaching in which he'd been raised. As he dug deeper into Scripture and church history, though, his convictions grew stronger. The more he learned, the more he felt pushed away from the beliefs and practices of the day. Just over three years after the 95 Theses, standing trial with the prospect of being killed for his beliefs, Luther was bound to confess: "Here I stand. I can do no other. God help me! Amen."
