

THE REFORMATION

OBSERVING 500 YEARS

Week 1: Spreading The Message: Education - University

When Martin Luther was appointed to the faculty of the University of Wittenberg, he was not excited. It was a second-rate school in a small town in Germany. He certainly did not go to the University intending to implement educational reform. But that is exactly what happened. And in the process, the small and lowly University of Wittenberg became one of the most influential universities of its time.
