

THE REFORMATION

OBSERVING 500 YEARS

Week 4:

Changes in the Church: Who Makes The Decisions?

One of the most startling changes Luther made had to do with answering the question, “Who makes the decisions in a congregation?” In Luther’s time, tradition held that the Pope and his appointed officials had the authority to judge doctrine, call priests, and absolve sin. After reading Scripture, Luther came to a startlingly different conclusion: Jesus makes it clear that all Christians have the same authority. All baptized Christians have the authority to absolve sin, judge doctrine, and call pastors.

How did Luther come to this conclusion, and why? To learn more, go to www.lutherhouseofstudy.org.

LUTHER HOUSE OF STUDY
LUTHERHOUSEOFSTUDY.ORG

THE REFORMATION

OBSERVING 500 YEARS

Week 4:

Changes in the Church: Who Makes The Decisions?

One of the most startling changes Luther made had to do with answering the question, “Who makes the decisions in a congregation?” In Luther’s time, tradition held that the Pope and his appointed officials had the authority to judge doctrine, call priests, and absolve sin. After reading Scripture, Luther came to a startlingly different conclusion: Jesus makes it clear that all Christians have the same authority. All baptized Christians have the authority to absolve sin, judge doctrine, and call pastors.

How did Luther come to this conclusion, and why? To learn more, go to www.lutherhouseofstudy.org.

LUTHER HOUSE OF STUDY
LUTHERHOUSEOFSTUDY.ORG