

THE REFORMATION

OBSERVING 500 YEARS

Week 5: Does Being Lutheran Matter?

As we observe the 500th anniversary of the beginning of the Reformation, one of the questions many people have is “Does being Lutheran matter today?” And if it does, why? Put another way, why are we still talking about Martin Luther, what he did, and why he did it? The answer to that question may be a little surprising.

To learn more about how we can answer that question, watch the video at www.lutherhouseofstudy.org.
