

THE REFORMATION

OBSERVING 500 YEARS

Spreading the Message:

Hymnody

At a time when many people couldn't read or write, Luther recognized the importance of putting his evangelical message into song. Doing so made it possible for people to hear Scripture's message and memorize it, even though they couldn't read the Bible themselves. Luther also understood that singing the hymns was a crucial part of the worship service. They were not intended to be a performance by musicians only, and they were not simply an unnecessary addition to the service. They were another effective way of getting God's Word of promise into the ears and hearts of the people.

To learn more about Luther, watch the Reformation 500 video series at lutherhouseofstudy.org or subscribe to Luther House's YouTube channel.

LUTHER HOUSE OF STUDY
LUTHERHOUSEOFSTUDY.ORG

THE REFORMATION

OBSERVING 500 YEARS

Spreading the Message:

Hymnody

At a time when many people couldn't read or write, Luther recognized the importance of putting his evangelical message into song. Doing so made it possible for people to hear Scripture's message and memorize it, even though they couldn't read the Bible themselves. Luther also understood that singing the hymns was a crucial part of the worship service. They were not intended to be a performance by musicians only, and they were not simply an unnecessary addition to the service. They were another effective way of getting God's Word of promise into the ears and hearts of the people.

To learn more about Luther, watch the Reformation 500 video series at lutherhouseofstudy.org or subscribe to Luther House's YouTube channel.

LUTHER HOUSE OF STUDY
LUTHERHOUSEOFSTUDY.ORG