OBSERVING 500 YEARS

Week 1:

Means of Grace: Baptism

Luther followed the language of the Apostle Paul when speaking of Baptism. Luther did not view Baptism as simply washing away sin so as to give a person a new start in life. Rather, echoing Romans 6, Luther understood that Baptism is a matter of death and life, drowning the sinner and raising the dead to a new life in Christ. This action is both initiated and brought to completion by Jesus through the promise you receive in Baptism.
