OBSERVING 500 YEARS

Week 3: The Augsburg Confession

In 1530, the people associated with the Christian movement coming out of Wittenberg were called to Augsburg by the Holy Roman Emperor. They were asked to give a confession of their faith (teachings) so as to demonstrate that they did not stray from the teachings of Christians handed down from one generation to the next. The document came to be known as the Augsburg Confession. It was a bold statement of the evangelical message. Later, the document was used as a means of creating political and religious alliances.
